COASTAL

Shaping the future.

Strength and style you can trust

Finnish architect Juhani Pallasmaa wrote that

"the door handle is the handshake of the building".

Every door makes a first impression and first impressions matter.

At Coastal Group, we believe hardware should do more than open doors; it should inspire confidence, look stunning and last a lifetime.

It's the details – like the pull handle – that set the tone for strength, quality and design.

Our pull handles are designed to do all three. They're engineered from marine grade 316 stainless steel, so they just keep going. This type of steel is trusted worldwide for its resilience, even in the harshest environments.

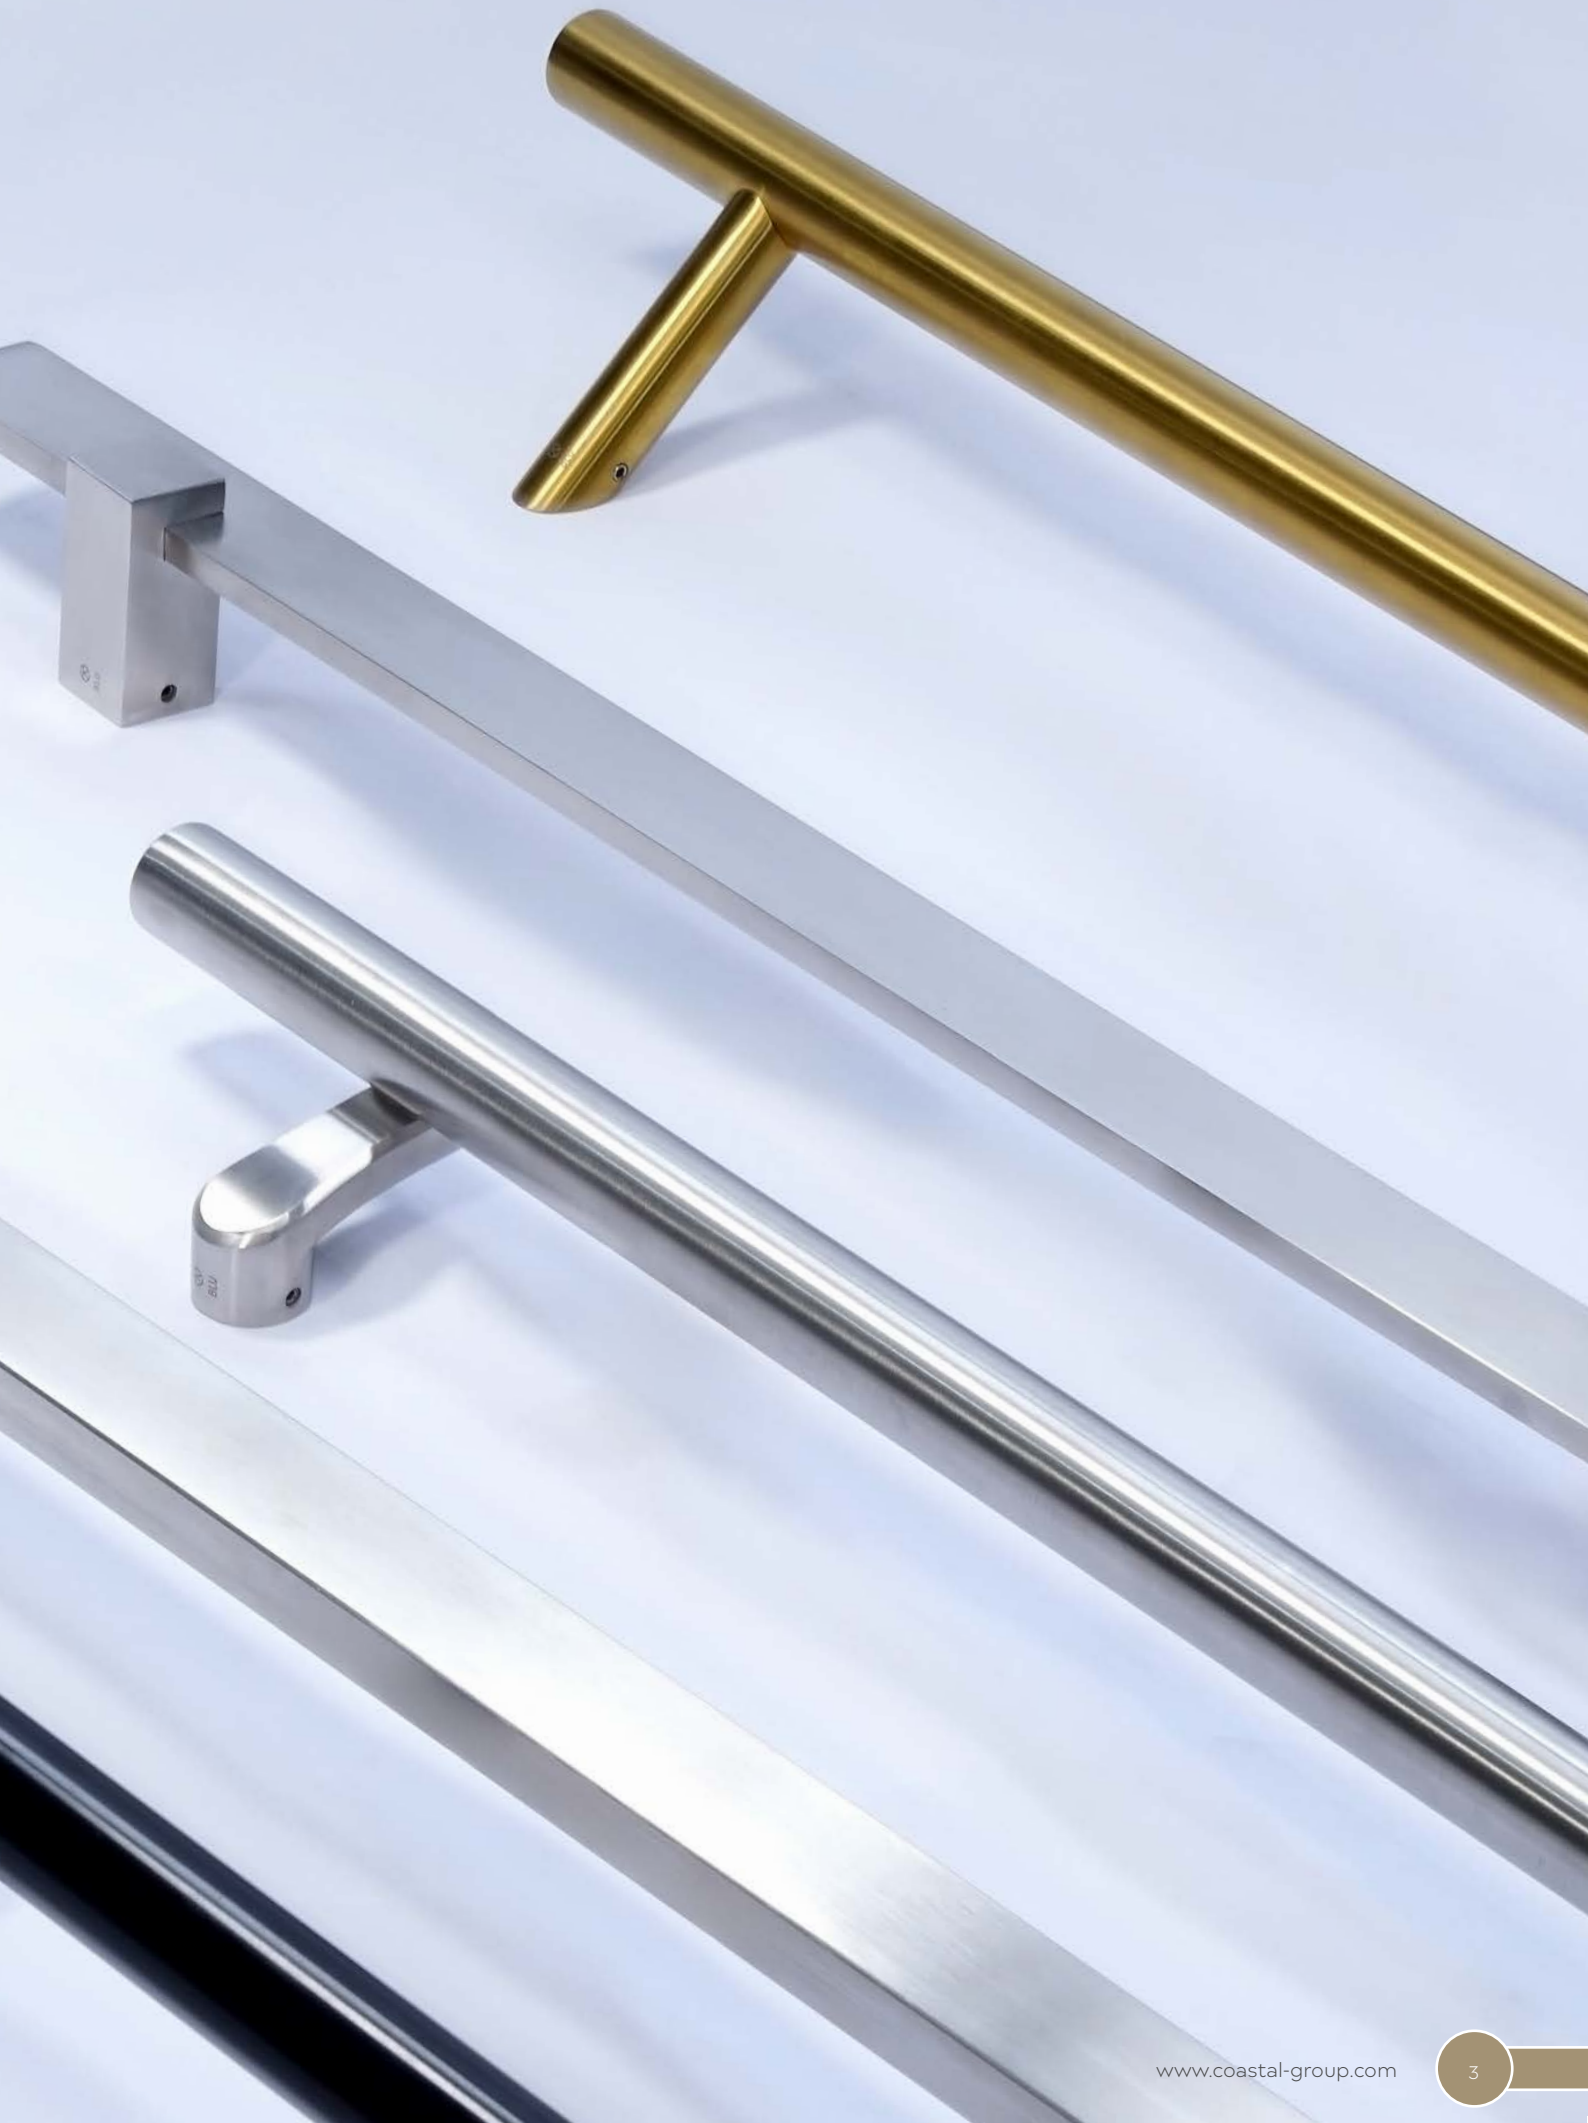

With thicker walls than most, each handle offers unrivalled strength and durability – designed to perform in both residential and commercial settings.

Handles are available in three timeless finishes:

- Satin Stainless Steel (SSS) for a sleek, modern look.
- PVD Stainless Satin Brass (PSB) for warm traditional elegance.
- Matt Black Lacquered (MBL) for bold sophistication.

Whether you're creating a striking entrance or refining the finer details of a project, Coastal's pull handles combine exceptional performance with effortless style, proving that true quality lies in both strength and design.

BLU[®]

Bar Pull Handles

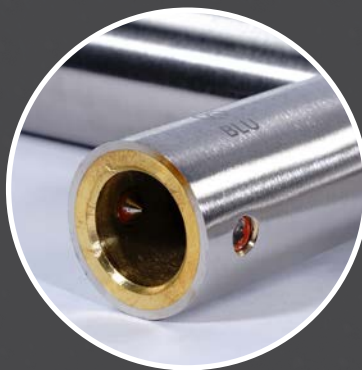

Great design is more than appearance – it's a combination of details that work together to create lasting durability, function and style.

Coastal Group's iconic pull handles offer a statement look and comfortable grip, sized perfectly for both residential and commercial doors.

Solid, high-quality construction

Crafted from stainless steel, either solid or with heavy-duty thick walls, they give a superior feel and offer excellent tensile strength, perfect for heavy use.

Fixings that stay secure

Brass bush fixing ferrules & nylon coated grub screw prevent the handle from working loose over time, giving long-term reliability on every installation.

Smart, functional design

By removing the middle stem, we've eliminated conflicts with door locking mechanisms, keeping the handle stylish, practical and installer-friendly.

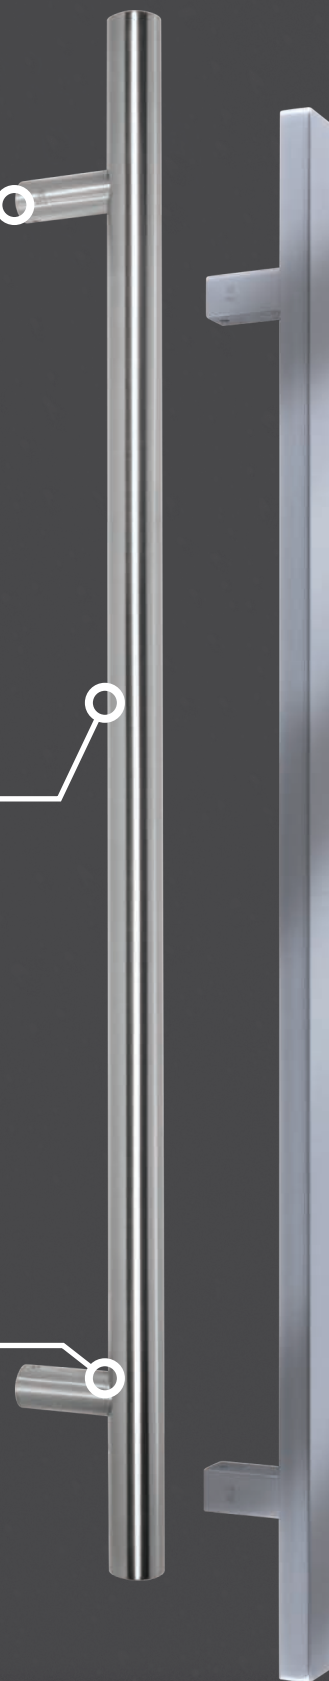

Flawless finishing touches

An extra 'linishing' process creates a super-satin finish unique to Coastal, while CNC-machined ends guarantee precise, consistent results across every handle.

Stem to Handle Detail

Precision engineered stem ends ensure a seamless connection between stem and handle.

Built for demanding environments

Manufactured from 316 marine grade stainless steel, these handles are designed to withstand harsh conditions, including coastal areas and with acidic timbers.

Premium Finishes

That Define Every Detail

The right finish doesn't just complement a door, it transforms it.

Each Coastal pull handle is crafted with the same precision engineering and marine-grade strength and is available in three finishes.*

- Satin Stainless Steel (SSS) – A sleek, modern finish with timeless appeal for contemporary and classic designs.
- PVD Stainless Satin Brass (PSB) – Warm, elegant, and enduring, this finish combines golden tones with cutting-edge PVD technology, delivering luxury with exceptional durability.
- Matt Black Lacquered (MBL) – Bold, striking and dramatic, this finish makes a statement of strength and sophistication, perfect for doors that demand presence.

More than a beautiful surface, each finish is engineered for long-lasting performance, resisting wear, corrosion and the demands of everyday use.

Whatever the setting – residential or commercial, modern or traditional – Coastal's finishes look great and last a lifetime.
